

Most people know about Netflix and Hulu, and others might even know about the more obscure sites like Crackle or ShoutFactoryTV, where you can watch Mystery Science Theatre. Here is a site that you can watch TV online legally and for free, and more never ending video sites you've never heard of before. Click on the mentioned links for some really good stuff.

Here are three more places to lean back and watch stuff. Most people haven't heard of these sites, so get ready to see something new.

TubiTV (Web, XBox, iOS, Android): Free TV and Movie Streaming Site You've Never Heard Of

Have you heard of TubiTV? I hadn't, and was pleasantly surprised by the content offered on this free site. You'll find ad-supported access to TV shows and movies from Paramount Pictures, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (MGM), and Lions Gate Entertainment, among others.

There are TV shows like Whose Line Is It Anyway and Peep Show, plus movies like Young Adult, Crash, and more than a few Star Trek films. There's a lot of fluff to dig through, but there's some pretty good content here not offered on other sites.

Reuters.TV (Web, iOS): Lean-Back News Interface from the Top Wire Service

You might not know what Reuters is, but if you watch the news at all chances are you've seen their work. This international wire service sells video footage to news networks around the world, and this new site lets you quickly watch a lot of that footage in quick succession. It's like a news show, but you can skip the stories you're not interesting in. Just open the site and lean back.

You can use the up and down keys to switch between stories, if you want, or you can just watch everything and get caught up. There are lots of places to watch the news online, but this might be the best yet.

Viceland (Web, iOS, Android): A New TV Channel Offering Online Documentaries

Infamous media company Vice is at it again, this time with an entire TV network filled with documentaries about everything from food to politics. The website and smartphone apps give you free content to a few episodes from each show. There's more content to be had here, but you'll need to prove you have a cable subscription (we all have Comcast) in order to access it.

All links work and are safe!